Senior Thesis: General Requirements

An undergraduate thesis or a comprehensive examination is required by some majors and may be optional for others. The thesis is a written research project that is chosen in a student's primary field of study and is intended to demonstrate ability to do mature work within the field of study. Where a thesis is required or elected by the student, a committee will be brought together for the defense of the thesis. It should be composed of the thesis supervisor, a second member from the Area in which the thesis is being presented, and a third member of the student's own choosing. The thesis topic must be developed with the assistance of a thesis advisor. In order to register for the thesis the student must submit a completed Thesis Proposal Form to the Registrar. A prospectus for the thesis, also submitted to the Registrar, is due by mid-semester. During the term in which the student is registered for the thesis the Dean and the Thesis Advisor will confer to monitor progress toward completion. If there is sufficient progress so that the student can finish by the end of the term, the registration for the thesis may stay active. If there is not sufficient progress, the thesis will be withdrawn from the student's schedule and the student must re-register for the thesis the following term. The record in this event will show a "W". If, for extenuating reasons, a thesis is left incomplete, the student will become subject to a continuing enrollment fee while the thesis is being completed.
